I haven't seen your bill in this case --24 been exposed to? 25 any of your billing records. Did you bring those with you 25 A. Well, just about every building built between the Page 105 timeframe of about 1950 to 1972, '73 had some sort of asbestos construction product in it.

Q. Where in the buildings?

- A. Usually if it's a multi-story building it has fireproofing during that timeframe that would be asbestos there. If it's a school or an auditorium or a hospital or courtroom or jail, you usually will have acoustical plasters during that timeframe that had asbestos in it. Ceiling tiles will have asbestos in it during that timeframe. Floor tiles, thermal insulation on heating systems if they have temperatures that run that range and joint compounds. Those are, I'd say, the majority of what's found in buildings from the fifties to '72.
- Q. In addition to that, have you done any work with respect to the amount of exposure that people may get from the asbestos fibers that they used to have in the brakes and brake linings? Have you done any work in that?
 - A. Yes.
- Q. Were any studies you did based upon any type of exposure levels to people who had, say, mechanical garages or worked in garages, anything like that?
- A. Yes. That's the studies we've done would be mechanics who either changed brakes out, used compressed air or did some sort of grinding on the brake shoes to fit the contour back to the wheel drums.

- Doctor, do you consider yourself a scientist?
 - A. Yes.
 - Q. As part of your report, did you ever look at the purchase orders of Harvey Aluminum or --
 - A. No, sir.
 - Q. -- any of the other --
 - A. I have not.
 - Q. In your report the one we've got on Page 3 the -- Page 2 -- I think it's Page 2 of the report, subtitled William E. Longo, Ph.D. Qualifications, the fifth paragraph reads: These tests were conducted to determine if individuals performing routine work practices around asbestos -- it goes on.

What do you consider to be routine work practices?

- A. Hold on. I'm having trouble finding it.MR. HARTLEY: Which paragraph?MR. GEIGEL: The fifth paragraph.
- A. Well, routine work practices involving thermal insulation is that individuals would have to do two things routinely; handle the material to place it on systems and from time to time cut the material.
 - Q. (Mr. Geigel:) Nothing else?
 - A. That's the only practices we measured.
 - Q. Right below that in the next -- it's not a

- Q. Is there -- as a result of the -- was there a period in time as a result of mechanics and other people that worked with brakes a lot being exposed -- a level of asbestos in the air actually from people putting on brakes out in the streets in cities where there's heavy congestion of traffic?
- A. There have been studies of what is generated from brake systems out in the streets when they used to have brake shoes, and most of the braking systems in automobiles are closed-in systems, very little really escaped out on city streets in my opinion.
- Q. What other exposures -- household contacts would people have other than those you've mentioned?
 - A. Usually that's it.
- Q. Talcum powder that was used on babies, did some of that contain asbestos?
 - A. We've looked. We have not found it.
 - Q. You're not aware of any?
- A. I'm not aware of us ever proving that talcum powder had tremolite or anthophyllite.

 MR. BRYANT: I thank you.

MR. BRYANT: I thank you, sir. I have no further questions.

Q. Good morning, Mr. Longo. I'm Eugenio Geigel. I represent Rubber & Gasket Company of Puerto Rico.

complete paragraph. It's the next -- would be the next paragraph it reads: Dr. Longo will testify about the results of these studies and provide testimony on how the routine use and disturbance of asbestos-containing thermal insulation, flat sheet gasket material -- and it goes on and on.

My question to you, sir, is what do you consider to be routine use and disturbance of asbestos-containing insulation?

- A. Routine use would be, of course, insulating pipes, insulating boilers, insulating vessels to keep the heat in. Also during that insulation, the cutting, especially on vessels where you had to change the curvature of the block, and also another routine use is its removal during maintenance, such as pipe that needs to be fixed or a steam line or a flange that has to be removed, thermal insulation is typically removed.
- Q. Now, you are aware of federal regulations regarding asbestos exposure, correct?
- 19 A. Some of them, yes.
- Q. Are you aware of the state or territorial regulations for asbestos?
 - A. No.
 - Q. What they are?
 - A. No.
 - Q. Would you say that some states normally comply
